Leina Zimmerman Promoted to Executive Vice President Of Skyline Construction

San Francisco, CA (April 29, 2010) – Skyline Construction, the Bay Area based general contractor selected by The Wall Street Journal and Winning Workplaces as one of the 15 Top Small Workplaces in America, is pleased to announce the promotion of Leina Zimmerman to the position of Executive Vice President of Sales and Marketing.

“The level of Leina’s client relationships has been critical to our success as a company,” stated President and CEO David Hayes. “Her knowledge, expertise and contacts within the industry are second to none. I’m certain she will thrive in her expanded roles and responsibilities, while continuing to grow our business.”

Zimmerman has been with Skyline for six years. She will be expanding her current role in sales to become a part of the Executive Management team, where her responsibilities will include strategic planning, monitoring customer satisfaction, annual budget, and tracking revenue; all the while continuing to develop new business. Some of Zimmerman’s clients include: Ropes and Gray; Union Bank, Riverbed Technologies; Google; McKesson Corporation; Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati; and SEGA. Prior to joining Skyline, Zimmerman spent the majority of her career running commercial real estate and facilities for various corporations.

A passion for community involvement is evident in Zimmerman’s work outside of the Skyline office. She’s the founder of a business networking and philanthropy group for women in the commercial real estate industry in San Francisco and Silicon Valley, and has held leadership positions with the following organizations: USGBC, CoreNet Northern California Chapter, IFMA and BOMA, Zimmerman also served on the Editorial Board of The Registry. She has a bachelor’s degree in Biology from Nebraska Wesleyan University and has earned multiple designations in her field, including LEED AP in interior design + construction.
